

Together, we will build the first Vietnamese Museum in Australia. It will be a cultural landmark and a vibrant addition to Australia's multicultural fabric, honouring the legacy of Vietnamese refugees.

Our Story

After the fall of Saigon and the aftermath of the Vietnam War, more than 1.4 million Vietnamese refugees sought freedom by any means possible.

Many undertook a perilous journey by sea on overcrowded and unseaworthy boats.

Refugees faced violent storms, brutal pirates, hunger, and dehydration in their desperate quest for freedom. Every refugee has their own story to tell, each sheds light on the deeply personal trauma they experienced. Even through that they still consider themselves the lucky ones!

The Vietnamese Museum Australia will preserve and tell their stories for future generations to understand the sacrifices of their ancestors.
